Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

1. Which platforms should I use?

Focus on platforms where your target audience is most active. Use search bars and hashtag research to see where your industry and competitors are present.

2. What should I post?

Create a mix of content, including educational articles, behind-the-scenes content, and promotions, often guided by a content calendar.

3. What is the difference between organic and paid?

Organic posts are free and seen by your followers. Paid ads are budgeted campaigns designed to reach a specific audience beyond your followers for immediate results.

4. How do I measure the ROI of my social campaigns?

Calculate ROI by comparing campaign revenue against your total investment (ad spend + labor). Use Google Analytics and UTM parameters to accurately track which social clicks actually lead to sales.

5. Is it better to "boost" a post or run a full ad campaign?

Boosting is a quick way to increase engagement (likes and shares) on an existing post. Full ad campaigns via Ads Manager offer more advanced targeting and are better for driving specific sales or leads.
